VISION

Jono Hotels are built for today's travelers, who want to get the most out of less. They travel on a slightly lower budget than older generations but are still willing to pay for modern comforts and quirks. They have less time to spend in one place, yet still, they possess a drive to squeeze the absolute max out of their trips through meticulous research and planning. With all that going on, Jono becomes a place to hideout, recharge and rebalance. Jono serves as a transition zone between the noise and excitement of the city outside, and the contrasting tranquility of its rooms, spaces and facilities. A place that's close to the excitement when you feel like it, but low on stimuli until you're recharged again.

MISSION

Jono wants to be the home base for urban nomads and modern day travelers, where they can optimally prepare to conquer the city with a clear mind.
